

for the purpose of rewarding you for that I am persuaded you have already in the impartial testimony of a good Conscience. I do it my dear Sir, to ease a heart swelling with gratitude.

Tempted, reviled and maltreated as I have been by white people during the most of my life - early taught to regard my self - their divinely appointed prey, and ever looking upon such as my natural enemies, - you may readily imagine the grateful emotions that thrill my heart. When I meet with facts - forever dispelling the darkness of such injurious doctrines.

I have travelled<sup>a</sup> great deal during the last few years - and and have met with many benefactors But never have I met with one, in your Station, having so many public cares and weighty responsibilities to bear, and yet so ready - so willing, and anxious to devote time, talent and official influence to the advancement of benevolent objects as yourself.

I speak just what I feel - and what all who are acquainted with the facts will confess to be true, when I say that to yours and the deep interest which the Miss Jennings's took in me and my Mission, I am almost entirely indebted for the success which attended my humble efforts while in the good-city of Cork. - I shall ever remember my visit with pleasure, and never shall I think of Cork - without -
